Regulation 220-2-17 ORGANIZED FIELD TRIALS

It shall be legal for any resident or nonresident of this State to participate in any organized field trial, approved in writing by the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, without a hunting license, provided that no guns using live ammunition are used or any game animals or birds are taken or killed in any way in the process of such field trial. Provided further that during the course of approved bird dog field trials (which trials shall only be conducted pursuant to possession of a valid permit from the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources), only pen-raised banded quail may be shot. The shooter, or person bearing the gun, will not be required to have a hunting license. Only one person at a time may possess a gun during the course of a permitted field trial where quail will be shot. A bird dog field trial permit where quail are taken will only be issued for a predesignated marked course and the number of tagged pen-raised birds to be released will be specified on the permit. Approval of the local conservation officer will be required prior to the issuance of a bird dog field trial permit where pen-raised quail are to be taken. Permits for bird dog field trials where birds are to be shot will only be issued from September 1 through April 30.

Regulation 220-2-08 Hunting of Raccoon, Opossum, Squirrel, Rabbit and Deer During Closed Gun Season

It is hereby made lawful to run raccoon, opossum, squirrel, and rabbit with dogs during the closed gun season on raccoon, opossum, squirrel, and rabbit by licensed hunters, provided, however, that under no circumstances shall anyone take, kill or have in his possession any raccoon, opossum, squirrel, or rabbit, or possess any device that could aid in capturing or killing other than light in conjunction with the running of raccoon, opossum, squirrel, and rabbit as permitted under this regulation during the closed gun season. Provided, further, that deer may be run with dogs only from the period October 1 until the opening of gun deer season in counties having a scheduled gun dog deer season. In addition it is also provided further that each cast participating in a raccoon night hunt field trial having a permit issued pursuant to Rule 220-2-17 may possess one raccoon squaller during the closed season on raccoons.
