

5 RIVERS...

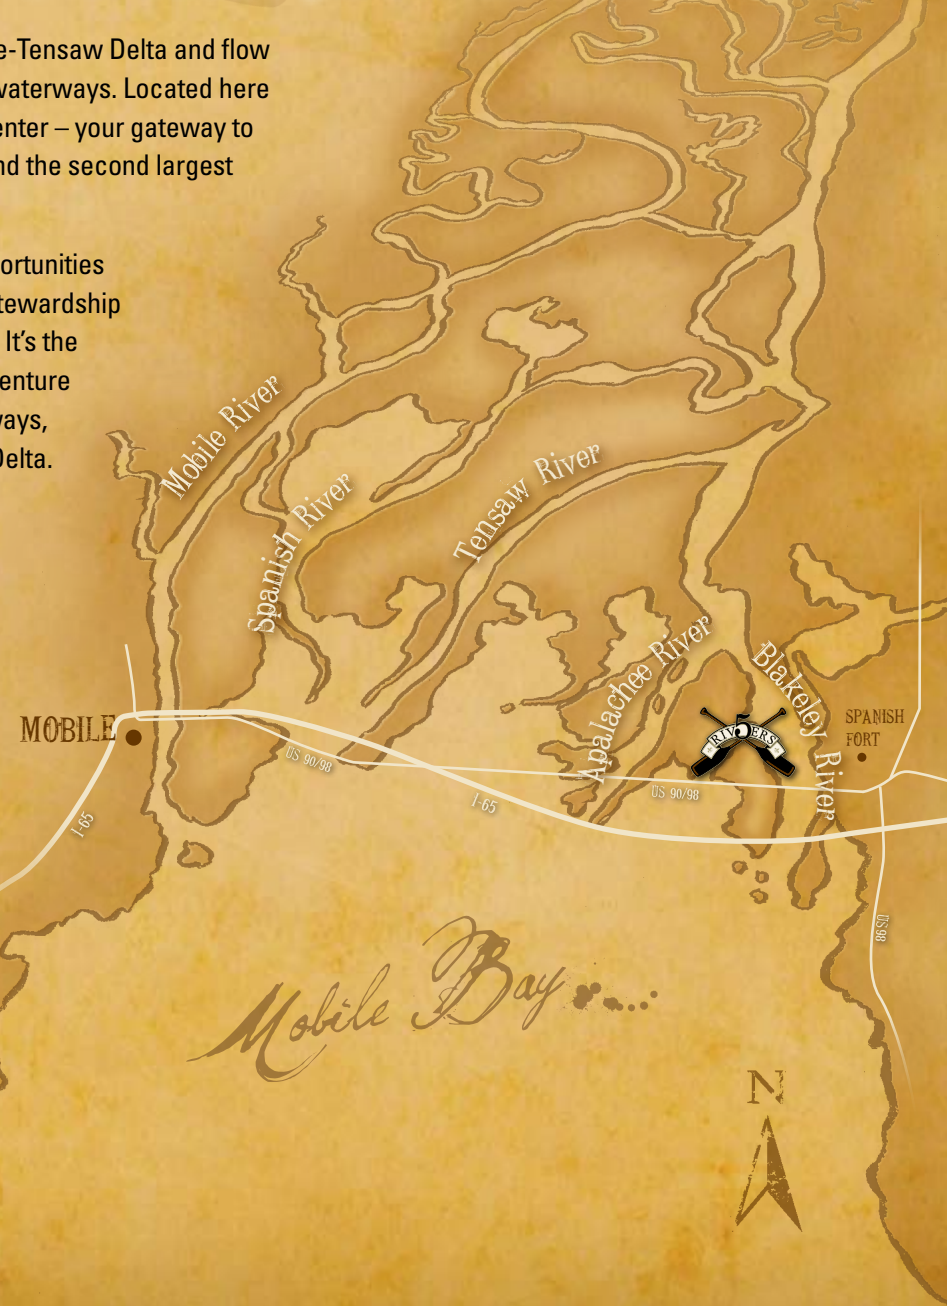

The Mobile, Spanish, Tensaw, Apalachee and Blakeley

These rivers come together in the Mobile-Tensaw Delta and flow into Mobile Bay in a scenic blending of waterways. Located here is 5 Rivers, Alabama's Delta Resource Center – your gateway to Alabama's National Natural Landmark and the second largest wetland in America.

5 Rivers features outdoor recreation opportunities in the Delta. It fosters responsible land stewardship and conservation education in Alabama. It's the ultimate place to begin your outdoor adventure into over 250,000 acres of scenic waterways, woods and wetlands that comprise the Delta. Or, simply explore the 5 Rivers trails and facilities to soak up the natural beauty of the lower Delta.

5 Rivers is located in Spanish Fort, near the port city of Mobile, Alabama.

What can you do at 5 Rivers?

Begin your 5 Rivers adventure at the Shellbank Visitor's Center. Find out what to do and see in the beautiful Mobile-Tensaw Delta from information and displays that reflect the culture, history and ecology of this special area over time. The Visitor's Center is also a one-stop shop for getting ideas on other great places to visit in coastal Alabama.

Preview some of what the Delta offers in the Tensaw Theater. A movie tour shows a variety of recreation opportunities and highlights of the Delta and Alabama's natural history.

Species Diversity

The Mobile-Tensaw Delta is teeming with plant and animal diversity. Reptiles such as the American alligator and Alabama red-bellied turtle are found here as well as more than 300 species of birds, 126 species of fish and 500 species of plants.

explore

Take a boat ride from our landing, threading through Sardine Pass into the Blakeley River. Alligators, blue herons, various shore birds maybe even an eagle – will catch your eye as you cruise past the location of Civil War batteries and retrace the route that naturalist William Bartram took in the 1790s when he explored the Delta.

Rent a canoe or kayak and explore the Delta up close! You may also launch your own canoe or kayak at no charge from the Bartram Canoe and Kayak Landing. Spend your day lazily paddling the Lower Delta, or reserve an upper delta camping platform on the Bartram Canoe Trail and make it an overnight stay. Either way, you'll depart with great memories.

You don't have to leave 5 Rivers to do some exploring, however. Take a walk on our nature trails, picnic or enjoy the area's best birdwatching without ever leaving the grounds.

If you arrive by boat, dock at our powerboat landing in front of Delta Hall. Then explore all there is to see and do at 5 Rivers.

The Apalachee Exhibit Hall features changing exhibits reflecting the Delta's rich array of natural and cultural resources. You can also enjoy the work of local artists who paint, sculpt and photograph the Delta Region. The 4,000-square-foot museum features not only information about the plants and animals found in the Mobile-Tensaw Delta, but also the area's rich cultural and historical heritage. Come "face to jaws" with the 12 1/2-foot alligator from our very own backyard. Marvel at the enormous wild boar whose cousin you might chance encounter in the swamp!

Blakeley Hall is a classroom and conference facility that hosts varied educational programs and adult professional workshops. Located right on the Blakeley River, its classrooms accommodate up to 150 people while offering spectacular scenic views. This is a truly beautiful setting to learn more about protecting our unique land resources.

saturday programs

Join us each Saturday for exciting programs and demonstrations on topics ranging from fly-fishing, crabbing, coastal fishing, birding along the coastal birding trail, canoeing the Bartram Canoe Trail, the art of cast-net throwing, waterfowl hunting, wildlife photography, alligator hunting, wild hog hunting and much more!
